SUBJECT: Manuscript submission of ADENINE: A DATA EXPLORATION PIPELINE to the JMLR special track Machine Learning Open Source Software

June 9, 2016

To whom it may concern,

the submission of this manuscript is not simultaneous to any other venue and it does not significantly overlap with previous submissions of the authors.

All the co-authors are aware of this submission and they all consent to its review.

Declaration of possible conflicts of interest; in particular, name all action editors that have recently collaborated with authors of the submission.
Qui non so davvero cosa dire ...

Suggestions of action editors that seem best suited to handle the submitted manuscript. These suggestions will be considered (though not necessarily honored). We have found that some action editors are popular with many authors, and may be busy handling other papers at a given point in time, so listing at least three action editors helps us expedite the process.
